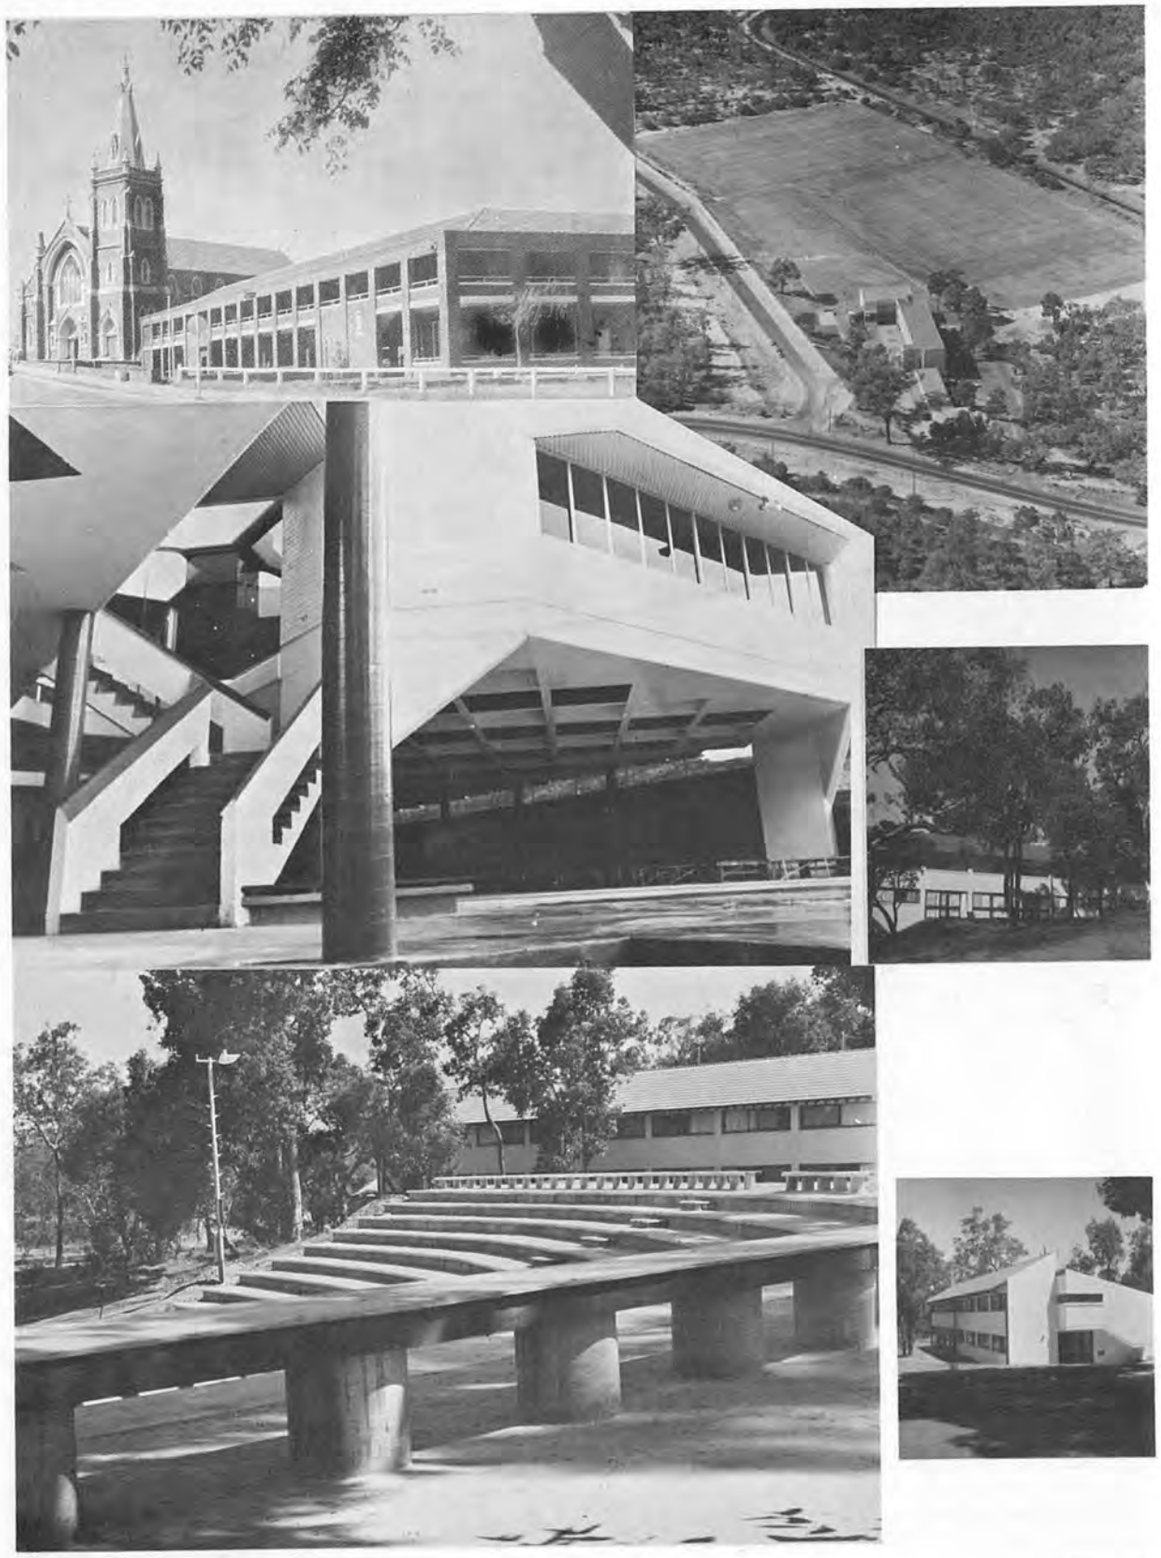
Foreward

In 1954, after fifty-one years at New Norcia, the Marist Brothers opened their first school in the metropolitan area, rather appropriately in Salvado Road, Wembley. Twenty-one years later, this school is to close down. But there are no signs of decay. If growth and change are signs of vitality and confidence, there is ample room for optimism.

Churchlands opened as a secondary school in 1965, with the primary section remaining at Wembley. Now, plans for three separate schools on the Churchlands site are afoot. A roll call of one hundred and thirty-five in 1954 has grown to one thousand. The '54 staff of three, under the kindly Brother Lucian (R.I.P.) has grown to over forty in the two schools.

We are grateful to those who have given us our traditions and spirit over the past two decades and beyond. We hope in this magazine to recapture some of the spirit of community of '75, the lessons and incidents, the adventures and endeavours, the attainments and perhaps the frustrations, but realise that all cannot be recaptured in print. Perhaps the magazine will help those present to recall in future years some of the spirit that prevailed in 1975.



Headmasters Report

Not very many years ago Catholics argued for State aid for Catholic schools in the following terms:

- Parents have primary responsibility for the welfare of their children and this responsibility includes the provision of education in the more formal sense.
- The State's responsibility is to assist in the provision of such a service, but not to deny parents the right to choose the school of their choice.
- If Catholic schools do not receive State aid, then Catholic parents must finance them as well as financing State schools through taxation.
- This situation is blatantly unjust and a denial of human rights.

As a consequence of the financial plight of Catholic schools, State aid did come, and it would appear to be coming in increasing proportions. In 1975 this College received $127,000 from fees and $236,000 from the Federal and State Governments—in other words, the State funds were 65 per cent of the costs of this school.

Presumably the State finances Catholic schools because it believes that they offer fundamentally different forms of education—they would hardly be financed if they exactly duplicated government schools.

It would therefore seem reasonable to ask the question: "What do we do in Catholic schools that is different?" or "What is unique about Catholic schools?"

The too-ready answer that Catholic schools teach the Catholic religion is too broad. It is criticised by outsiders as indoctrination and promoting divisiveness in the community. Some Catholics criticise this answer also in the aftermath of the Vatican II Council. They maintain that Catholic schools no longer teach the Catholic faith—they don't teach the catechism and the morality of the ten Commandments—they promote only some vague wishy-washy warm glow feeling for humanity—they don't make children practice their Catholic faith. In short, some Catholics have lost confidence in Catholic schools. These people either desert Catholicism completely, or they maintain that Catholic children should be sent to State schools and that the Catholic religion should be taught to them on Sundays or after school hours.

These pressures from both the left and the right have had a very good result. They have made Catholic educationalists realise that they need to work out:

(1) A philosophy of Catholic education;
(2) A set of goals for the individual school;
(3) Communication techniques for letting these goals become part of staff, parents and students—and in this respect the learning is all done by doing.

This report tonight is a review of our educational philosophy, the goals we have set up to implement this philosophy, the programmes we have devised to communicate the goals and the philosophy to staff, students and parents and a judgment of how much success we have achieved in following these programmes.

REV. BROTHER TIMOTHY, F.M.S., B.Sc., Dip.Ed., M.A.C.E.

The philosophy of Catholic education in the words of Br. Charles Howard, the Sydney Provincial of the Marist Brothers, is as follows:

1. "The Christian is a person who has a certain vision about the meaning and purpose of life, a vision which has had enormous influence on western civilisation. The revelation of God's love for men and the summation of this revelation in the person of Christ, demands from Christians a personal act of love and submission to God and a sense of mission to the world to spread the Good News of that love and peace and salvation to mankind generally.
2. "Every generation of Christians has felt the urging of their Spirit to share with their children this great vision of the purpose and destiny of human lives. The Christian family is the basic starting point for this sharing but the wider community of Christians have always taken responsibility for assisting the family and this is done in a whole variety of ways including schools.
3. "In an age when many of the old guidelines appear blurred or missing, when our society is besieged by materialist values, then there is even greater need for closer collaboration between the school, the home and the church, sharing their Christian values and supporting one another.
4. "This spreading of the Good News or communication of the faith is not just a question of passing on information. The knowledge aspect is important, but it is also vital that all this take place within a community of faith and the establishing of such a community must always be one of the principal aims of a Catholic school.
5. "At the Vatican Council the proper function of the Catholic school was proclaimed as 'to create for the school community a special atmosphere animated by the Gospel spirit of freedom and charity to help youth grow. . . .'"

There is a principle here which is almost self-evident. It is certainly backed up by a wealth of evidence. And that is, that a person's beliefs, attitudes, values and behaviour patterns are formed to a great degree by his environment and, therefore, the normal person needs the Christian environment if he is going to live Christianity in a vital way.

This then is the philosophy of Catholic education. We seek to provide an education which sees man in relation to God as basic to understanding man at all.

The goals a Catholic school should have are fairly clear from the work of such people as Sr. Carmel Leavey and Br. Marcellin Flynn. Our own staff spent some days arriving at goals which are consistent with their research. The researchers' goals were identified by surveying students, parents and staff in twenty-one Catholic schools. The same survey has been administered to the last three Leaving classes at Marist and their opinions show close agreement.

The goals of a Catholic school which staff, parents and students regard as important are:

1. To reverence each pupil individually irrespective of ability or appearance.
2. To develop personal qualities of initiative and independence in pupils.
3. To give every pupil a chance of success in some aspect of school life, be it academic, sporting, social or service.
4. To put great emphasis on internal self-discipline rather than on external conformity to rules.
5. To get students through the public examinations as well as possible.

There is nothing educationally startling about any of these goals. They mirror precisely what any school might have as its goals.

In Tasmania the State Education Department has set up a system of matriculation colleges for Year 11 and 12 students—colleges similar to the one we proposed to commence next year in conjunction with Brigidine and Sienna. The philosophy and goals of such colleges are stated as follows:

"'If you cannot perceive that the youth of seventeen is nearer to the young man four years his elder than he is to the child who is four years his junior; that at bottom he no longer wants to be in the environment where he spent his twelfth birthday, and that this is a part of his search for adult dignity, that the watershed comes at about sixteen, some little time after puberty: then I can only classify you among the great majority of adults, well represented in the educational and medical professions, who just do not understand young people.'

"This quotation (Times Educational Supplement, 19th February, 1965) from R. Wearing King sums up the philosophy behind the concept of matriculation colleges.

"It is the obligation of the matriculation college not only to prepare candidates for the academic requirements or vocational needs of tertiary education or employment but also to bridge the gap between secondary and tertiary education. Bridging this gap involves more than academic learning—the college must prepare students for the acceptance of the responsibility for their own actions; it must make the exercise of self-discipline a reality; it must provide the opportunity for the full development of student government; it must cater for the full growth of the students' individualities; it must allow for students to control their own activities; it must lead young men and women to think for themselves and make their own judgments; it must provide them with a framework of sound moral and ethical values on which to base their patterns of behaviour.

"The young people for whom the planning is being undertaken need to be fully understood. They are a new type in many ways. They were born into a period of post-war relaxation and comfort, into an era when their age group is one of the main targets of commercial advertising and merchandising, into an age of affluence, full employment and the protection of the welfare state, into a world where the sum total of human knowledge is doubling every few years. They have been brought up in an atmosphere that has led them to question the answer rather than meekly answer the question. They have rejected many of the traditional forms of authority but they are much more prepared to set up their own authorities than their predecessors were. They have set up their own fashions, likes and dislikes, terms of reference and even language. They have developed their own individualities. These attributes are entirely their own and not a slavish copy of their elders. They have in their make-up more frankness, more honesty, less inhibition, less mock modesty, more willingness to think for themselves, more power to be analytically and destructively critical than their counterparts of an earlier age ever had.

"The young person of this age must be allowed to retain his dignity. Respect at least must be paid to his ideas and opinions. It is inevitable that risks will occur and must be met as they arise. As part of this students will be faced by the possibility of doing the wrong thing and of making a wrong judgment. It must be recognised that it is not possible nor is it desirable that such a set of rules be devised that will provide for the elimination of risks and prevention of wrong judgments. Rules must be kept to a minimum.

"It is stressed explicitly that adequate provision should be made for the development of students' interests beyond the mere subjects for examination. This is apparent in the demand for musical activities, art extensions in the widest sense, ventures into drama, television and film making, physical development and recreation, and the general gamut of student clubs."

There is, however, a major difference between the goals of the Tasmanian matriculation colleges and the goals of a Catholic school. It doesn't lie in the five goals I read out earlier, but in a goal which I omitted—a goal all three of staff, students and parents listed as either the most important or the second most important, viz.:

That Catholic schools ought to provide an atmosphere of Christian community where people are concerned for one another.

This creation of a caring, concerned community doesn't rate a mention in the philosophy and goals of these State colleges. It isn't simply that they are secular institutions and therefore must avoid the use of the word Christian—they avoid explicit mention of the basic idea of Christianity, viz. care and concern for others as a response to the love of God for man shown in Christ.

It is in this way and in no other that a Catholic school can be fundamentally different to a State school—I say can be because it still has to form the Christian community referred to.

It is interesting to reflect upon this fundamental difference by listening to the comment of an independent observer, Professor Neal, the Professor of Education at Adelaide University.

Professor Neal wrote:

> "It is impossible to go into a Catholic school, in my experience, without at once sensing a feeling of family friendliness, of a real community life between the regligious, the lay, the parents and the pupils. There is a warmth, a closeness of human relationships, a relaxed informality, a togetherness, a genuine sense of relationship between young and old, a true family feeling which, although, of course, not always absent from other kinds of schools, is immediately noticeable in Catholic schools . . . their great success in making the school a natural part of the home and the Church—an undivided trinity—is an educational gift which Catholics have to offer the rest of us."

If you ever wonder why Catholic schools seem to place so much emphasis upon involvement and community—so much so that at times you wonder whether your child is at school or you are, then that is the reason. If Catholic schools don't make you feel this way, then they are failing in their primary goal. If they make you feel this way but you don't do anything about it, then either they are failing to provide programmes and means and communication techniques or you are failing to respond. You don't enrol a child at a Catholic school, you enrol a family.

This is the reason why the religious in this area are working towards presenting Catholic schools in the eight parishes around us as a unit—a region. The priests and religious can be a skeleton, a link between the primary, junior secondary and senior secondary schools, but the flesh is your families. And the schools are an extension of the families and we all are the Church.

I heard the following paragraphs at a Headmaster's conference this year:

> "If the school is to be truly the extension of the family, the parents must be in sympathy with what the school is trying to achieve. If they have sent their child to a Christian school for the social advantages that will follow, or for its sound academic traditions and pay but lip service to the child's formation in faith, there will inevitably be tensions. Children pick up double standards very quickly and see them for the sham they are. The double standards practised render much of the work of the school ineffective, for the children see their parents, by attitude and life style, questioning the purpose for which the school sees itself existing. A headmaster would be wise to interview parents before admitting their children to the school, to ensure that there is harmony between the aims of the school and the intentions of the parents in enrolling their child. The school that has a parent body homogeneous in outlook and expectation is fortunate. Then they more readily come to know and trust the school they have freely chosen for their children. Breathing the spirit of the school, they will be interested in the educational programme, particularly in the religious education or Christian living programmes offered to their children. They will be prepared to take part in the parent education programme to enable them to understand better what their children are learning. They will feel at home in and around the school and be prepared to be involved. This often means in terms of time rather than money. It will be their pleasure to get to know some of the staff. The school really becomes the extension of the home where people can relax and be themselves.
> "And what of the boys that attend our school. In a sense a boy belongs to our school before he comes to us, because his parents want him to come and actively plan for him to come. They surround the school with a mystique and build up his expectations. When he comes he learns the length and breadth and depth of the community of which he has become an active member—staff, students, parents, old scholars and friends. He learns to appreciate the contributions of others; he learns to accept others for what they are in themselves; he learns to contribute to the community; he learns that there is love and forgiveness in the community, that he can make a mistake and live it down. He comes to regard his membership not as a right but as a privilege, a responsibility and not a burden. And he takes that concept of community with him, and the wider world is the better for it.
> "This, as I see it, is the challenge facing the headmaster of the Christian school today. He must create a school community in which people genuinely care for each other, where they can pray and worship together, rejoice or sorrow together, work and relax together. In this school the lonely and isolated will find sympathy and compassion. Further, the students will be happy because they are taught thoroughly and well by understanding and competent teachers and there is scope for creativity and diversity as well.
> "In Roman days the strength of the appeal of early Christianity lay in the love Christ's followers had one for another. The appeal is just as powerful today if the transforming effects of this love can be seen in the day to day situation. Such a school as I have tried to sketch would have as its ethos the warmth and humanity of the person of Jesus. It would breathe the enlivening spirit of the Gospel, the Good News. The challenge today is to try to produce it."

That's the theory, now what of practice? As we read these pages, we reflect upon the programmes we run to implement this philosophy and these goals. As we reflect, let's make judgments—judgments about praise for what is good, tolerance for what is poor humanity's efforts to respond, resolutions about the contributions we should make.

Unless the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it."

Chaplains

Our special thanks go to all the Dominican Priests for their zeal in looking after the spiritual welfare of the boys and the Brothers. Many thanks, Fr. Maxwell, and to all your community, we owe a debt of gratitude.

Recently Fr. P. Jackson was appointed Chaplain and already we have seen a lot of him at the school. Other priests have helped us also. We deem ourselves fortunate in having Father D. Panton on our staff. Father Hugh Galloway and Fr. Peter Ryan, C.S.S.R., impressed all of us during our Christ centred camps. Fr. G. Aldous and Fr. J Jegorow, both ex-students, have generously given their time to help. May God bless all of you in your work.

Swimming Pool

"Good morning" comes a thunderous roar from the pool area, south of the Monastery. "Must be Henry King's team on today," says someone at the breakfast table. So starts a typical Saturday. Soon other volunteer workers begin to arrive. "What's on today?" Well, maybe bending steel, pouring cement, using the vibrator, decking to be erected or. dismantled, levels to be checked, reinforcement to be tied, back filling to be completed, coffee to be made, etc.

Who said you could build a pool, Olympic size at that, using voluntary labour? Someone said (must have been a racing fan!), "THINK BIG," and thankfully, there were plenty of people who did just that. The Parents and Friends, under President Dan Leunig, agreed it was a feasible and worthwhile pro ject for 1975. Past years had seen ovals, tennis courts, cricket pitches, basketball courts and an amphitheatre added to the school's facilities. "We, the Community, will build a pool," was the decision. And what a lesson in Community involvement.

About two hundred volunteers are rostered under group leaders—some groups of men and others of boys—each group attending one weekend in five. Others offer more professional services in supervision, planning, surveying, bricklaying and use of hire equipment, earth moving, electrical installation and so the list goes on.

Others became involved in financing the project. A special effort was made to find the $50,000 needed. The usual fete, raffle, walk-a-thon, Melbourne Cup Sweep were held, but added to this we heard of a grand ball, morning teas, film outings, bingo nights, art display and sale, cookery books and the list is still not exhausted. Can you imagine how many people have directly or indirectly aided this project? The figure must run well into four figures.

Little mention has been made of individual names because so many should be listed—"the number is legion". Those closely connected with the pool would surely take offence if Mr. Frank Ehlers name was not singled out. Frank has spent hundreds of hours at the site and probably just as many hours working on the pool, behind the scene of action. One can't but admire his professional attitude, his patience and courtesy towards "us poor, willing, amateurs," and his spirit of optimism.

Another to deserve thanks is John Kirrane. Unfortunately, due to bad health, we lost a great worker and supporter. Get better soon, John.

A Victorian headmaster, attending the Headmasters' Conference in August, stated: "We have been talking a lot about Community Schools; they (the headmasters) should go out to Marist and see a Community in action." Parents and Friends of '75—take a bow!

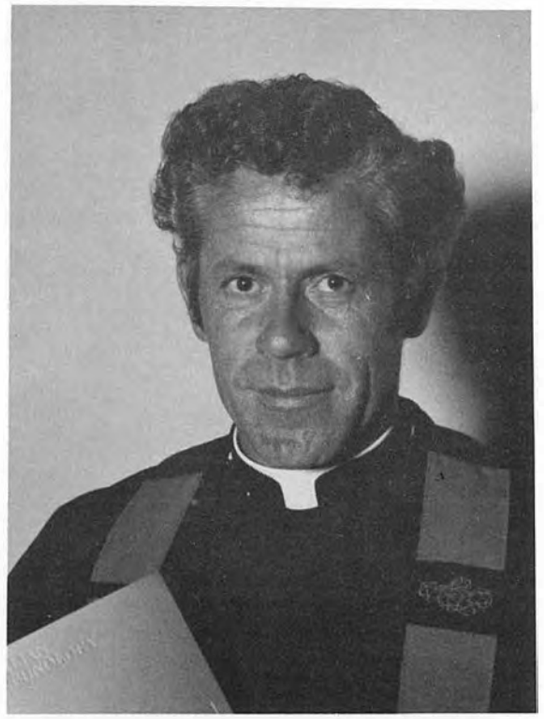
BROTHER CLETUS READ, F.M.S., B.A.
PROVINCIAL

Brother Cletus, first Headmaster of Marist College, is now in his fifth year as Provincial. We, as a province, are indeed fortunate to have such wise and strong leadership in times of adaptation and renewal in keeping with the teachings of Vatican II.

Next September, Br. Cletus goes to the General Chapter in Rome, accompanied by Br. Desmond Crawe (Headmaster, 1970-71) and Br. Walter Smith, who was on the staff in 1964. We congratulate the province delegates and pray that they be given the wisdom and courage to fulfil the responsibility that they have been asked to bear.



BROTHER TERENCE, DIRECTOR 1970-75

Brother Terence, the religious superior, after seven years here and about fifteen years in W.A. has been promoted into the Province Administration machine. I can't list all the activities Brother Terence has been involved in in those seven years. Briefly, a lot of hard work in football, cricket, teaching, administration, camps, the maintenance of the grounds, work crews, magazines—already several people have commented on the enormous amount we are losing—and to the outsider, his major role as the religious superior, just doesn't register.

February

Tuesday, 11th. The first Newsletter for the year is published, containing the usual propaganda. Life, unfortunately, begins as usual bar staff changes: Brother Marius, Barry Fleming, Gerry McMullan, Miss M. Mace and Mrs. Faye Ryan all left for better pastures, being replaced by Brother Evan, G. Tippett, M. Hulshoff, Miss C. Southee and Mrs. Wendy Christensen respectively. New teachers are Miss R. Hatch, Messrs. C. Jacob, M. Evans and E. Pearce. Oh yes, lest we forget, our new Deputy Head, Mr. Peter McGowan!

Wednesday, 12th. 8.30 a.m., and 570 belligerent and regretful students, wearing their recently introduced braid, which eliminated the traditional tie for summer, arrive for school.

Thursday, 13th. Swimming trials begin for the entire school; unfortunately, the majority of teachers return to school next day unscathed.

Friday, 14th. Brothers P. Murphy and D. Crouch take their vows, while Declan Tanham, Peter Leunig, Greg Boylan and Brian Kinsella continue in training as brothers, and Michael Willett, Terry Tanham and Chris Hall continue in preparation for the Servite Order. Not bad for all ex-students, eh?

Monday, 17th. The toughly contested elections for House Captains finished, and results are as follows, going from Captain to Vice-captain to Deputy Vice-captain: Knox—J. Penniment, P. French, W. Horrocks; Benedict—D. Medley, C. Crowe, A. Taylor; Marcellin—P. Lamb, B. Power, J. Lucas; Salvado—R. Zamin, D. Peachey, P. Rooney; Joseph—D. Hogan, M. Ridge, G. Scapin; Horan—K. Cornwall, P. Kennedy, M. Sayers.

Tuesday, 18th. Art classes for mothers of students begin, with some unusual results.

Thursday, 20th. That time of the year comes once more with the school Swimming Carnival, an event unsurprisingly enjoyed by most. Our star swimmers P. Baccini and K. Spillman glitter once more. House results are, from "best" to "worst": the great Benedict "best"; Marcellin "worst". But don't despair—it's not a matter of winning or losing, but who your contacts are. Quote—"The mind boggles."

Friday, 21st. The great, superb, incredible and typically Marist-like Brian Power is elected President of the '75 Students' Representative Council. Congratulations, Brian —didn't I tell you I'd fix it?

Tuesday, 25th. Screaming first years, and many wolf whistles (Wolf whistles?) accompanied the School Captain and Vice-captain election results. Captain for '75 was Dennis Medley, a capable student and fine sportsman (Luv' you, Denni), and Vice-captain was Phil Lamb, an outstanding sportsman and a good student. (A corrupt-free government is expected for '75, while public execution has been reintroduced for "smart" first years).

Friday, 28th. Very many thanks to all past and future tuckshop ladies who "calm the savage beast of hunger". President of the Committee of '75 is Mrs. Elsa Bengough.

March

Tuesday, 4th. "A rose by any other name. . . ." Secondary classes are being confined by their new names, i.e. 8th year, 9th year, 10th year, 11th year, and 12th year.

Senior students are ecstatic to find they won't be doing a Leaving Exam. Then the news leaked out that it would be replaced by Tertiary Admittance Examination (T.A.E.).

Monday, 10th. The Marist "Summer Collection" has just arrived. A little late, maybe, but, anyway, beautiful models have been seen wearing a mod piece of braid across their pockets instead of sporting a tie. The official tracksuit has just been released too.

Tuesday, 11th. It seems the adults just don't want to be educated. There are still vacancies in the Art and Business classes.

Friday, 14th. The A.C.C. Swimming Carnival is to be held during school time instead of on an evening. Unfortunately, Marist apparently only go well at night and consequently the Servite night-birds scored a solid win. But, on a cheerier note, we were such good sports we gained a mention from Kirwan Ward.

Friday, 21st. The students sacrificed a school day and put themselves out to raise $200 for the missions on the S.R.C. Missions Day. That's funny, is it not, Brian? Brian Power must be especially thanked for the organisation. Two major attractions this day, besides the gambling and skateboard riding were: the volleyball game—staff versus students, where the senior students suddenly realised that typing had its better aspects—and the "Weirdos' Parade", starring a banana, a fairy, some rather tough-looking characters and some seedy "madams" and a Scotsman who got escorted from the arena for flashing some "leg". Not to mention a land surfie, a bikie and a lanky looking figure who had a rumbling stomach.

Thursday, 27th. Everyone looking forward to a spiritually fulfilling long weekend for the Easter holidays. School resumes on Tuesday.

April

Tuesday, 1st. An informal barbecue, Trophy presentation and meeting evening, organised by Brother Terence, concludes the cricket season—a whacking great success! Oh, a new arrival! The birth of the Marist Cricket Club, with Mr. J. Symons as President and Mr. G. Price the first Secretary.

Thursday, 3rd. The Under 14 Suburban Turf team receive their pennant and cup at a dinner at the W.A.C.A. [WACO(?)!]. Leg Spiiner David Symons just wins the bowling average with 38 wickets at an average of 3·57. Not bad, Dave.

Saturday, 5th. A fourth aggregate in the City of Stirling Championships marks the completion of the swimming season. Well done, team—and especially Pete.

Sunday, 6th. Marist Film Society 1975 Premiere in the College Hall with Coogan's Bluff and Class of '44. A few new tricks picked up from the latter!

Saturday, 12th. First construction group begins work on the year's number one project—the swimming pool (at last!). Let's get into it, boys—support Mr. Ehlers, Mr. Kirrane and all the team leaders.

Saturday, 12th, and Sunday, 13th. Commencement of the hockey season. For many, the first exertion of energy after the long "summer slack".

Sunday, 20th, to Friday, 25th. Years 8, 9 and 10 are shipped off on camps. To the Years 11 and 12 students that's the good news. Now for the bad news. Exams. on the same week. Peace at least!

May

Thursday, 1st. Embassy Ballroom was overcrowded with mums, dads, and youthful ballroom dancers. Well done, Mrs. Lee and Bros. Leo and Fons.

Sunday, 4th. Mr. Ken Sadlier and helpers run the Annual Hockey Carnival as competently as ever— except Bro. T. was used as an umpire!

Thursday, 8th. Martin Vandenberg leaves as Captain of the W.A. Junior Ten-pin Bowling Team for the East. Other students look forward to the break! Bros. T. and T. with Henry King and sons surprise all with the speed of their departure on a northern safari.

Thursday, 15th. P. Lamb (Under 18s) and G. Host (Under 16s) elected captains of their respective Subiaco Combined Football Teams. Congratulations.

Tuesday, 27th. New term starts. Long trousers save many from the sox fine, but the missions suffer! Fourth year and fifth year camps are being held this week at Serpentine and Byford.

Thursday, 29th. Work starts on a new laboratory, or at least a shed arrives. More lawn to plant next December!

Friday, 30th. What a first. Our Cooking Class (yes, boys) goes on T.V. Compere Peter Barlow was intrigued with this "optional" subject taught by Mrs. M. McKevitt. Boys claim that her cooking is as good as her art teaching. Must be good.

June

Friday, 6th. It's raining. No walkathon? Yes, some sadists say it is to go on. The rain reminds us that the proceeds (Senior School $4,500) are for the swimming pool. Br, L. runs again—somewhat slower.

Monday, 9th. Encouraging to see the weekend work on the pool.

Friday, 13th. Mrs. D. Bogue reports a very successful Picture Morning at the Astor for the Hockey Club, while Mrs. G. O'Dea and helpers have a rewarding Cake Stall for the Football Club. God bless all Mums.

Thursday, 19th. Mr. K. Ridge accepts the task of organising this year's fair. Thanks a lot, Kevin.

Tuesday, 24th. A physics teacher: "Don't worry about what we are to prove. Just wait till we get there."

Thursday, 26th. Senior Dance at Mt. Hawthorn Community Centre. What was on that card that Bro. E. held up? Why did the teachers want to meet all the girls?

Friday, 27th. Quotable quotes from Bro. L.:
"Religion—well, I wouldn't know much about that."
"Geography is an impractical subject to study."

Monday, 30th. A group of boys and mothers journey to Moora for Mr. O'Halloran's funeral. Deepest sympathy to Bro. Evan, Mrs. O'Halloran and family.

July

Tuesday, 1st July. Steve Pearce and Anthony Bogue selected in the State School Boys' Hockey side. Beaut! Eric's coaching and Daphne's cooking reap their reward. Ian Knox makes the Metropolitan side. T'was the shirts, Jackie.

Monday, 7th. First blood! A. Sharpe (bewdy, Arthur) selected again as a State Soccer rep.

Thursday, 10th. Three more representatives, this time in football: Gary O'Dea, Chris Dibden and Ross Pattullo, Subiaco Combined Under 14 side to go to Geelong.

Monday, 14th. Thirty old desks sold. Thanks to students who willingly helped to sell them during school time. Hope to see big improvements in homework habits.

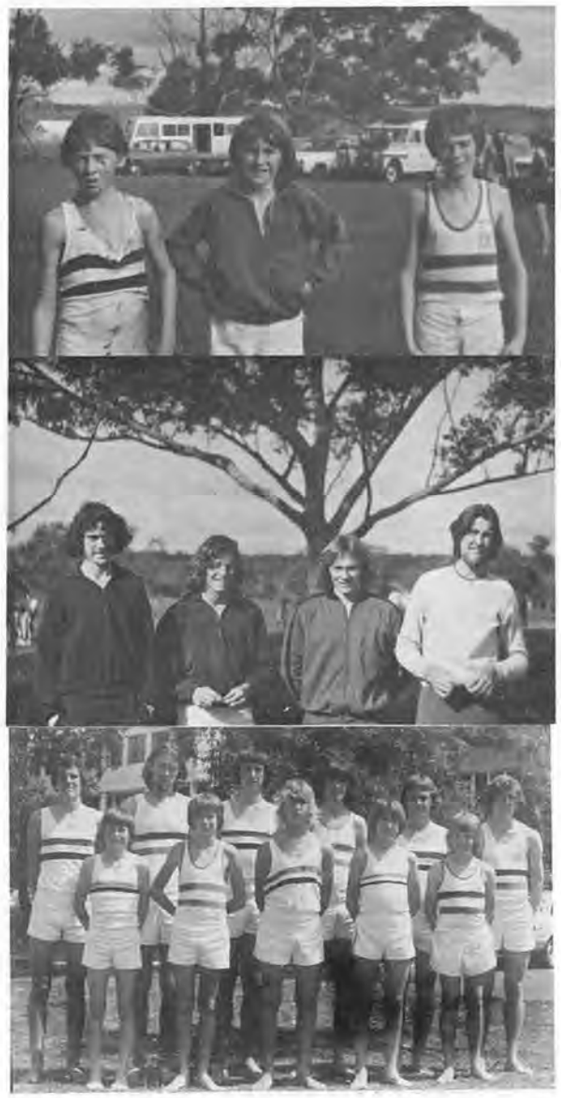
Tuesday, 22nd. School Cross Country Championships held. Results: Under 14s—D. Munt; Under 15s—A. McComish; Under 16s—G. Host; Open—G. Lee.
Quote from first year boy: "Cross country running is a health hazard."

Tuesday, 29th. Students in Forms 11 and 12 get set for hard study (at the beach?) in preparation for exams.

August

Sunday, 3rd. Cross country running at New Norcia. Results: two concussions, one twisted ankle and one half-drowned runner!

Open runner (G. Lee) lost as some alterations were made to directional flags on the track by ???. Also, injured runner (T. Taylor) appreciates assistance from caring nurse! Notable results were: Under 14s—1, D. Munt; 2, D. Lowry. Open—1, P. Thompson; 2, G. Lee.



Monday, 4th. Calculators go on sale in the "Opportunity Shop". Risk of scarcity as mathematics teachers buy (i.e. Bro. Timothy, T. Vermeer)!

Thursday, 8th. The College community would like to offer prayers for the repose of the soul of Mr. Jack Flood.

Friday, 9th. Marist Football Club—Nine Year Olds Lightning Carnival—Marist Blue (4 points) defeated unbeaten Wembley Downs (2 points) in a real grand final atmosphere. Peter Barrassi Evans does it again.

Sunday, 18th. Art and Craft Show have a tremendously successful weekend. Patrons express delight and pleasure at the quality and range of the work and the excellent way in which they were exhibited. Door sales: $1,100. Art sales: $11,000. Total profit: $3,500.

Tuesday, 20th. Tim Erickson, a Marist Brother attending Monash University, wins the 50 km walk in the Australian Winter Championships. Rumour has it that he trained with Br, Marius—one walked, the other ran!

Sunday, 25th. Marist 17s win football premiership by annihilating Karrinyup 21.16 to 5.6.

September

Tuesday, 9th. Quote by D.H.: "I am very surprised to see the number of people at school today. . . ." Encouraging the first-day blues. Almost forgot, school started.

Wednesday, 10th. Gary Heagney wins the fairest and best in the 17s competition. Great display by the team and manager, Mr. Kevin Lamb. Under 17 hockey team wins semi-final and preliminary final.

Sunday, 14th. Marist Fair held—a huge success with a profit of over $3,000. Thanks to all who helped.

Monday, 15th. Under 17 hockey team lost in a hard game 6-2. Congratulations to coach Mr. Eric Pearce and the team—most who can play again in 1976.

Wednesday, 17th. Track suits (Note the spelling, Maureen!) now sold on credit or an instalment plan is available for those who don't want to rush into buying. Talk about inflation!

Thursday, 22nd. Marist, 35 points, defeated Claremont/Cottesloe, 29, in basketball semi-final. Keep on the ball, boys.

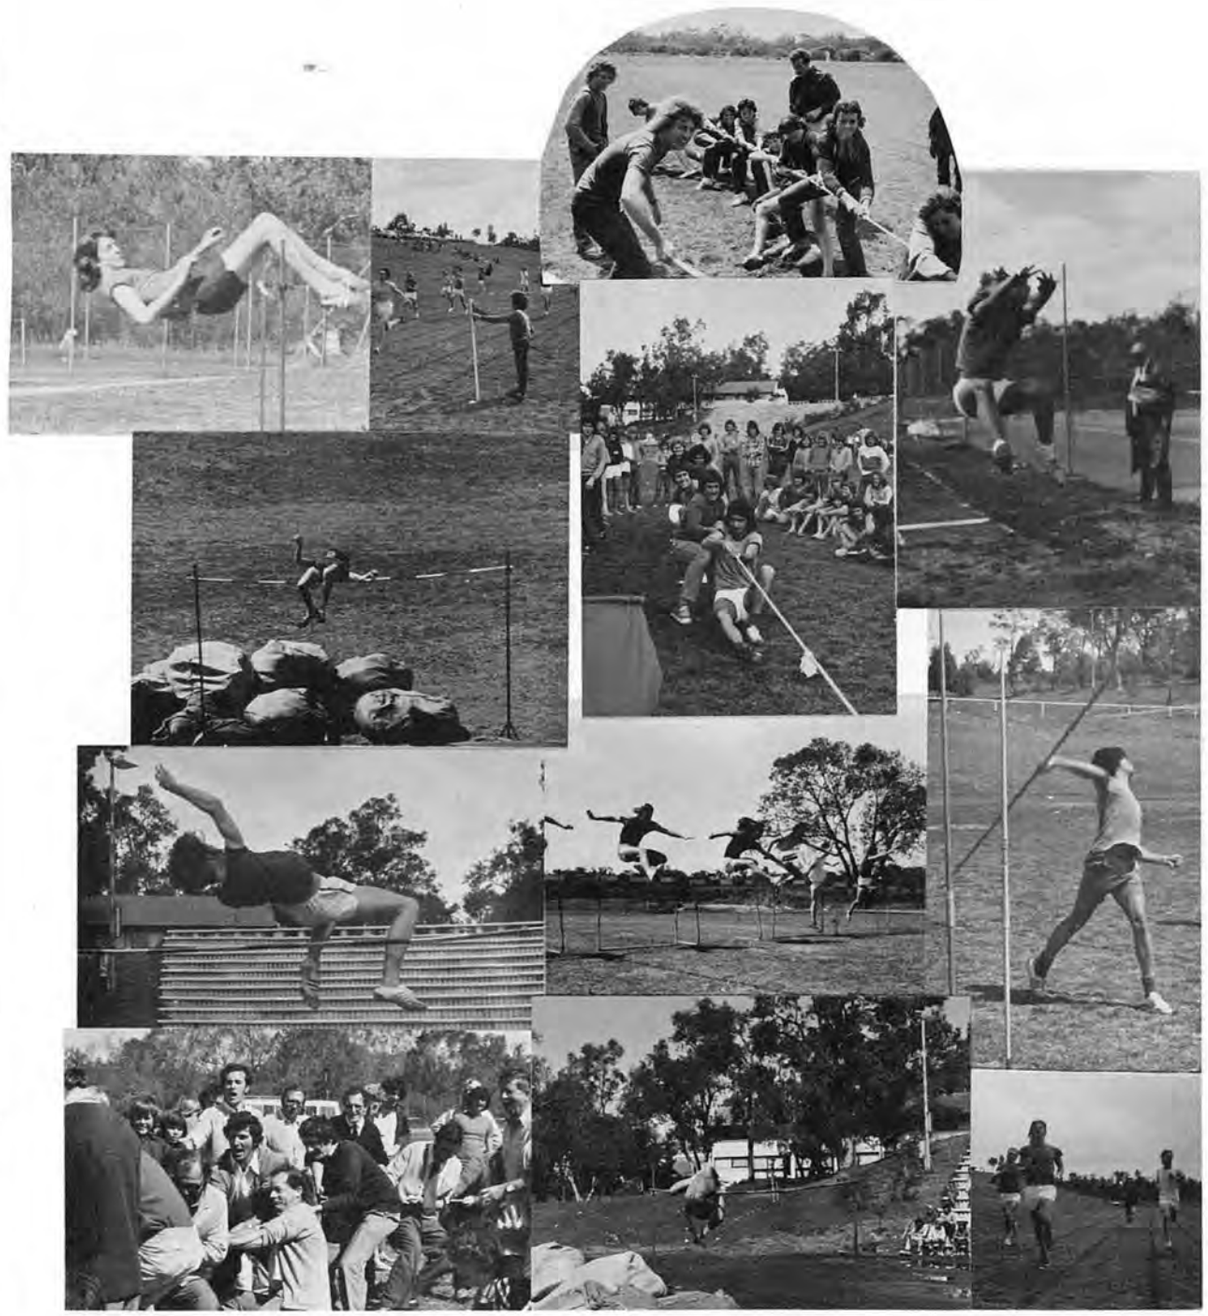
Friday, 23rd. Salvado win the House Championships in Athletics for the first time in our existence. Well done, Rocky, and all your pebbles.

Results: Salvado House, 592 (Captain R. Zamin); Joseph House, 561 (Captain D. Hogan); Knox House, 470½ (Captain J. Penniment); Benedict House, 448½ (Captain D. Medley); Marcellin House, 341½ (Captain P. Lamb); Horan House, 309 (Captain K. Cornwall).

Gary Scapin won the Open Individual Championships.

A performance of high note: J. Bell in the Under 17 High Jump cleared 6 ft. 5 in.—a tremendous effort.

Salvado Wins House Athletics



October

Monday, 6th. News Flash . . . Marist '76 will go completely co-ed for fourth and fifth year students of Marist and Brigidine Colleges—many hunger strikes on the football oval in protest accompany this decision. Quote—"Well, they didn't have anythin' of the sort when I was a lad!"

Tuesday, 7th. Secret information, involving the transfer of Bros. Terence, Fons, Leo and Thomas has leaked out. Never fear, Mr. McGowan is on the case, and a small female dog has been convicted, thus proving Mr. McGowan's versatility. Many tissues and broken hearts follow the news of their future prospects. Bon Voyage.

Footnote. For first years, Bro. Kevin returns (for woodwork) and Bro. Marius (for history). Watch out, Tuck Shop ladies!

Wednesday, 8th. Incidentally, for those of you who haven't already guessed, this year the College has embarked on the most responsible course of its career (with authors like me, you cannot miss!), that of the publication of a school magazine. The entire situation rests upon the "secure" shoulders of Brother Terence (I had to say that—he is my boss!).

Friday, 17th. A.C.C. Athletic Carnival. Our lads showed class enough to defeat all opposition—spectators and all! Marist provided more wind than nature and those boys in green returned to Sherwood Forest somewhat less merrily than when they had left.

Monday, 20th. Swimming training commences at Beatty Park.

Saturday, 25th. State Schoolboys Championships. Gerard Lee second in a 1500 that was run in record time; Adrian Nizzola fourth in Javelin, and Paul Carpenter ran into the semi-final of the 400.

Sunday, 26th. Championships continue. Gerard Lee second in 800; A. Rice a finalist in the 100, and Martin Ferrari managed third in his heat of the 200.

Monday, 27th. Commencement of Raids. Mr. M. issues statement on affairs of defence. No retaliation to be allowed. New policy commences as of today.

Tuesday, 28th. New policy abandoned. In a public address to the masses, Mr. McGowan advocates retirement to the classrooms in the event of an attack.

Tuesday, 13th. Marist defeats Servite in a stirling fight-back for A.C.C. Football Premiership. Well done, Phill and Co.

Friday, 31st. Well, off to the printer. Good-bye.

Leaving 75

by J.P. (J.P.)

We will remember—

The introduction of one hour periods.
Our Wednesday two-hour religion seminars.
Our recreational room.
The lack of sleep during our June camp.
The film "Sunshine". The girls cried and D.M. suffered a hernia from laughing.
The Leaving Dance.
The conviction of our Deputy Head on Mission Day.
The Eastern States tour.
The "War of the Roses". No, it was flour, not flowers.

We will try to forget—

Looking after "Juniors" during Friday morning "Question Mark".

For "Guiness Book of Records"—

Our card players broke the world record. They played for a year.
If K.J. reaches six foot by the end of the year.

Man's Message—C. Bridgeman

Student Representative Council

The S.R.C. commenced this year very well, accomplishing some worthwhile aims for student activities, both within the school and in the community. These aims took the form of a missions day, school socials and a variety of street appeals and door-knocks.

As the year progressed, however, there was a sad decline in the interest and support of the S.R.C. by the majority of students. This was most disappointing as the progress of the S.R.C. relies on student support and its success depends entirely on the involvement of the student body.

Consequently, it remains for me to thank the very dedicated few who have carried the rest of the school throughout the year.

B. POWER, President

Year 11 Y.C.S.

Every second Friday, an informal group of Year 11 students, under the leadership of Gerard Lee, meet to discuss a variety of topics. The basis for such discussions is that members acquire a better understanding of themselves by getting to know each other. Ultimately, the group aims to establish an environment in which individuals may openly express their views and opinions in building a trusting group.

A number of activities were organised throughout the year. A "busy bee" at St. John of God's Hospital, Subiaco, proved beneficial to all members involved.

Although we are referred to as the Young Christians Society, meetings are not centred around the Bible. All meetings are concluded with spontaneous prayers or excerpts from a book of prayers which may readily be related to our everyday lives.

New members are encouraged to attend our discussions and no restrictions are placed on compulsory attendance. Even so, approximately 14-16 members regularly attend meetings.

Meetings are held from 7.30 to 9.30 at the home of one of the members, or at the College.

BROTHER LEO

All Y.C.S. boys wish Br. Leo all the best in his new task at the Postulant House in Hawthorn next year. They are disappointed that he is going, but know that the stirling qualities that he possesses will be put to good use. Thank you, Br. Leo, for seven years of devotion to the Y.C.S.

Many Hands Make Light Work

The Tuckshop ladies, under the leadership of Mrs. E. Bengough and her committee, have worked like clockwork in order to feed daily nearly six hundred hungry lions. From the laughter and chit-chat it is obvious that their day is both busy and very enjoyable.

Accepting orders for the variety of lunches available, preparing the lunches and arranging them in the trays for delivery to the various classrooms, these ladies keep their balanced sense of humour—even when at the last minute some of the boys, and even teachers, have forgotten to order their lunches.

The mothers who volunteer to roster themselves once a month on Tuckshop duty are thus a tremendous and faithful help to the College. For their continual generosity and patience the students and staff of the College wish to thank them sincerely.

Music

Master: Mr. E. Pearce

Piano and Choir Mistress: Mrs. E. King

Added emphasis has been given to the place of music in the school curriculum. As of former years, Mrs. Enid King has weekly piano lessons with most satisfying results.

A new addition to the staff is Mr. Eric Pearce, under whose direction a number of wind, percussion and string instruments have been purchased. Mr. Pearce's versatility is evident as he teaches such a wide variety of instruments. We are looking forward to the first concert by a Marist orchestra. With over fifty boys learning various instruments, we are very optimistic. Mr. T. Morgan teaches the guitar to about fifteen boys also. Thanks to these three people for their interest and patience.

Art

Five years ago Mrs. Marlene McKevitt joined our staff in the Art Department. Two years ago Mr. Paddy Elphick came to us. The quality of the work produced by their students has been seen by many people in the annual displays.

Perhaps what impresses us is the variety of the work—painting in oils and water-colours, pencil and charcoal drawings, pottery, enamelling, screen printing, copper embossing, just to mention some of the work done by the students.

Both teachers were most prominent in the art display and sale in August which was so successful. Mr. and Mrs. A. Brady would be first to admit the huge amount of work done by both teachers.

The drama festivals also show evidence of the creative work coming from the Art Department.

Congratulations to Danny Penco for his recent success in the Italian Art Competition. A marble statue of "David" was his impressive trophy.

Guess Who?

Fourth Year Camp "September"

It began with differing thoughts and ideas in the minds of many rather sceptical students, while others not knowing nor caring to whatever the next five days would offer. However, it was not long before all ideas were placed on the right course (and hopefully in the right direction).

The main idea of the camp, I believe, was to extend the unity between classmates of fourth year, a type of "getting to know everyone" plan, and between one hundred and ten, the task was far from easy. I'm glad to say though, that we had the most competent and able staff for the job in Messrs. Harvie, McGowan, Vermeer and Brothers Evan and Alphonus (better known as "Fons"), with the inclusion of Father Hugh Galloway from Busselton.

The day began with group discussions and lectures by one of the teachers on a particular branch of religion, and similar episodes continued throughout the day, finalised either by a getting together of all students or the showing of "educational" slides. The routine on occasions was broken by free time or by the walk to Serpentine Falls, one of the highlights of the camp.

But the most beneficial of all events was the final mass on the night before we were to leave. Throughout the camp everyone noticed the atmosphere of warmth, kindness and well-being that prevailed, of which much was due to Father Hugh Galloway who inspired real love and awareness in our minds. The final mass brought all this to a climax—making it an "unforgettable moment of our lives". Thank you, very much, Hugh, for adding that ray of sunshine to many "damp" minds.

Finally, I must say that despite any hardships that the teachers must have faced, they must have felt pleased in the final outcome of the camp, where the general aim had been fulfilled. Unfortunately it could not last for ever, and the routine of reality began once again very soon, with school.

Footnote. On behalf of all the students present, I'd like to thank all the girls and teachers from Brigidine Fourth Year for those delightful moments; their camp was situated only two miles away. Cough, splutter! Yes, well, that's another story.

Eastern States Tours

During the second term holidays of this year the College conducted its bi-annual Eastern States tour for those boys in Years 11 and 12. Due to the fervid interest shown in the proposed tour, the tourists were divided into two groups. The first tour left on Thursday, 21st August, at 11.50 p.m. and returned on the Saturday evening of the following week. The second tour left on Thursday evening, 28th August, and returned on Saturday, 6th September.

Over eighty students and six teachers participated in the two separate tours. In chronological order, they visited Melbourne, the Snowy Mountains, Canberra, Sydney and Adelaide. Not only did they visit the cities, but they also spent at least half their time in the surrounding environs, e.g. Yallourn district (Melbourne), Blue Mountains (Sydney), Barossa Valley (Adelaide). .

Such trivialities as the extreme cold of the snow country were far out-weighed by the good. Some of the highlights included a trip on the Manly hydrofoil, a ride on a chairlift ascending towards Mt. Kosciusco and one on a cable car in the picturesque Blue Mountains, a scenic railway ride also in the Blue Mountains, a visit to a hydro-electric power station, a ferry trip across Lake Eucumbene (and a visit to a Barossa Vallery winery!). Undoubtedly the main highlight of the tour was the toboganning on the slopes of Smiggens Hole.

It was originally stipulated that these tours be of an educational nature, while at the same time being conducted on a fairly informal basis. Some may consider this to be a contradiction in terms. However, it was not so much an educational tour from the aspect of facts and figures, but rather in that it was an exercise in community living. The onus was on the individual to act responsibly in a manner that would enable the group to enjoy a successful tour. This co-operation was readily given.

Those students on the two tours would like to show their appreciation to Brothers Leo, Evan and Alphonsus and Messrs. McGowan, Harvie and Morgan for trusting them and treating them as responsible adults. Such abetted the atmosphere and spirit. It was this spirit that made the tour such a worthwhile experience.

Tennis

What's the fastest route from the top floor to the tennis court? Ask a first year tennis player. Who is usually last to line-up? Yes, you can guess the answer. Who is responsible for the popularity of tennis? Either Mr. I. Morgan or Fr. Des., with Br. Fons a distant third. Most others would still be at the barrier.

Tom spends hours patiently coaching future Connors; Fr. Des keeps the tournaments running and Br. Fons helped out with the A.C.C. tennis teams. It's great to see the courts used so much.

Incidently, Br. T. and Tom still claim they are doubles champs. Any challenges?

Third Year Camp

As dawn broke, one hundred and twenty brave adventurers could be seen silhouetted against the pale pink sky. For some it was their first such a venture; for others it was to be their last. Lung cancer would claim many, others would perish from exhaustion and still others would die from starvation (or just plain bad cooking).

After waiting and waiting, the buses finally did arrive. Ten gruelling hours of travel lay ahead of them, but they were ready. Every one of them determined, grim. A short stop at a "self-service" roadhouse proved very fruitful. On into Geraldton and yet another "self-service" shop was found.

Into Kalbarri in the fading light tramped the horde. Allocation of tents, and rules were specified and it was then that the group embarked on what was to become a dreaded nightly ritual. Dinner! Each night there could be heard things like: "Not spaghetti again?" or "Sweet curry? Yuk" or the screams of a food poisoning victim. However, good adventurers don't die easily, so they battled on.

There were three day activities: a walk to Red Bluff, a drive to the Gorges and a row down the Murchison. The group was split into three, each sub-group doing a different activity on a different day.

Although the directions about Red Bluff weren't too clear ("It's somewhere down that direction") most people were able to find it. Returning, however, was a different thing. Many were seen crawling towards the shop and it must have saved more than one life each day.

The mountain climbing types were treated when the trip to the gorges came around. The spectacular canyons provided much amusement, while the river provided a good source of speed swimming.

Canoeing on the Murchison River was a real adventure. Drownings were few, but wet boys were many. About the only complaints from this quarter was of sore shoulders and arms.

Spare time was spent either fishing, playing football or cricket, playing cards or trying to surf, dodging the reef and sharks.

Night activities were varied. One night, a concert with an act from each tent provided much amusement for the horde; another night, a film; while other nights were taken up by discussions in which the troop self-analysed itself. They came up with the theory that they were a pack of pigs and decided to convert. I am still waiting for the conversion.

The weary travellers arrived home, tired, but still undaunted. Happy but sad. In the words of many, "It was a great camp."

Woodwork

Brother Thomas joined our staff at the start of the year and was given the task of teaching woodwork. He arrived and found the workshop in its very early stage of planning. In a very short time, benches were erected, tools were bought and now we have a well-equipped room.

Towards the end of the year, we have seen many proud owners taking home their finished tables, book-shelves and so on. Well done, Brother. Your stay with us was brief but most productive.

The High Jumper
by D. Tucker

Athletics

Marist does it again—Catholic Colleges Champions for the fourth consecutive year. We won track, field, barracking and the "battle of the banners". Gary Scapin, captain, led the team by fine example, winning five events himself, while Jack and the boys gave admirable support from the stand.

Record breakers were as follows: Jorden Bell (Open High Jump, 1·95 m; U/17 High Jump, 1·91 m); Jerome Ehlers (U/17 High Jump, 1·78 m); Gerard Lee (U/17 800 m, 1 min. 59·8 sec.; U/17 1 500 m, 4 min. 4·7 sec.); Derry Moldrich (U/15 100 m, 11·9 sec. into a strong wind); Mathew Price (U/14 High Jump, 1·64 m); Under 16 Relay—D. Hamilton, P. Hamilton, B. Harrison, P. Rice (47 sec.).

Other good performances came from Rocky Zamin (Open 1 500 m); Tony Dwyer (Open Shot Put); Tony Kenny (Open Long Jump); John Lucas (Open Triple); MartinFerrari (U/17 200 m); Jerome Ehlers (U/17 High Jump, 1·78 m); P. Hamilton (Hurdle U/16); B. Harrison (100 m U/16); D. Choules (High Jump U/15); P. Carpenter (800 m and 400 m U/15).

Other highlights were evident. Rocky Zamin and Damian Peachey led Salvado to their first win ever in the School Carnival.

Knox, inspired by J. Penniment and immovable with Andrew Marshall as anchorman, soundly thrashed the staff in the annual (we hope) tug-of-war event.

Finally, let us thank Mr. N. Morson, Br. Terence, Mr. B. Peachey, Mr. J. Lowry and Mr. F. Egan for their coaching efforts, enthusiasm and interest.

Miles Award

Once again about ninety boys gained Miles Awards for swimming and athletics. Several years ago, Mr. Larry Miles offered awards for boys who reached certain fairly difficult standards in the various field, track or swimming events. Such was the popularity of these awards, that it was decided to keep them going. Perhaps our high standards in inter-school competition has been due to these awards as much as other factors. Thanks to Mr. Larry Miles for your support for the "triers".

Football

Another season is over. What were the highlights? Perhaps the First XVIII premiership against Servite, or was it the Champagne Football played by the Seventeens on Subiaco Oval, when they trounced Karrinyup to win the flag by sixteen goals. There were individual highlights also: Phillip Lamb captaining Subiaco's combined U/18 side, while Glen Host leads the combined 16 side. Gary Heagney's Best and Fairest win or Gary O'Dea, Chris Dibden and Ross Pattullo being selected to go to Geelong in the combined U/14 side, both should be recalled.

Once again the footballers are grateful to the Parent body under Jim Doherty, President; Don Bell, Secretary, and Brian Lee, Treasurer, plus the Committee, coaches and managers, for their efforts in fielding twelve teams each week.

On presentation night, former President and Life Member, Mr. Laurie Ryan, presented a life membership badge to Brother Terence in appreciation of his coaching efforts spanning twenty-two years in the Subiaco district competition. Congratulations, Brother.

Cricket

With eight yard nets in constant use throughout the year, there is ample evidence of cricket enthusiasm in the school. The Under 16 side won the premiership in the W.A.C.A. inter-zone competition and the Under 14 side won the Suburban Turf Competition. Congratulations to Mr. C. Waddell and Brother Timothy.

Rumour has it that the First XI may journey to Adelaide in January to compete against other Marist schools from the Eastern States. Keep up the W.A. cricket name over there, boys.

Hockey

With a list of coaches reading like a West Australian (or better!) hockey list of "Who's Who", a most capable president in Mr. Ken Sadlier, and an enthusiastic band of helpers (e.g. Mrs. P. Stampalia, Mrs. D. Bogue, etc.), there is little wonder why the general standard of hockey is so good in the school.

The First XI were premiers, the Under 17s runners-up, and the teams were well placed in their respective competitions. Congratulations to Steven Pearce and Anthony Bogue for their selection in the State Under 16 side that went to Hobart and Ian Knox for his selection in the metropolitan side.

Basket Ball at Marist

Basketball at Marist has slowly but surely become a part of sporting fixtures at the school since Brother Leo and others started the sport about seven years ago.

Since then others have carried on the job, Barry Harvie, a teacher at Marist, Vincent Lee, a Marist Old Boy, Gary McCavanagh, another Old Boy and some students at the school.

One of the great acquisitions in 1975 has been the services of Mr. John Hawke, an ex-State basketballer and hopefully other people with the knowledge and interest will come into the scene.

Marist has made the grand final several times in winter and summer competitions and are noted for their high team spirit.
